RADIO SAWT AJLOUN

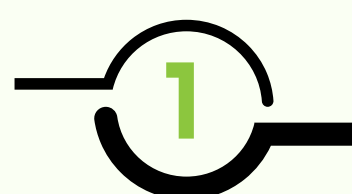

A community radio station aimed at fostering social dialogue through the use of social media and community media to address the social, economic, political, cultural, and environmental challenges faced by youth, women, and marginalized groups and areas in the governorate. It seeks to raise awareness about human rights, the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), and community participation in achieving them. The radio also works to promote the values of dialogue, youth engagement in public affairs, mechanisms of decision-making, governance, and good governance, while opening channels of communication between citizens and decision-makers.

Radio Vision

An independent community media institution characterized by transparency, credibility, and inclusiveness, with a positive societal impact reflected across all aspects of development work in Ajloun Governorate in particular, and in all governorates of the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan more broadly.

Mission

To contribute to expanding radio coverage of community realities in Ajloun Governorate, provide training for media students and activists, and establish sustainable communication that engages all community segments and decision-makers.

FIFTH BROADCASTING CYCLE

As part of its media and community mission, Sawt Ajloun Radio implemented its fifth programming cycle during the period Feb to Jun 2025, in line with a vision aimed at enhancing the awareness-raising and developmental role of community media in Ajloun Governorate and its surrounding rural areas.

This cycle included a diverse set of radio programs that addressed various fields, including social, environmental, economic, educational, cultural, health, and political issues, as well as topics related to persons with disabilities, municipalities, and local development.

The cycle aimed to create open dialogue spaces with the community, amplify the voices of marginalized groups, and enhance digital engagement by broadcasting programs across various social media platforms (Facebook, Instagram, YouTube, Twitter, LinkedIn), thus achieving broader outreach and more active participation from listeners and stakeholders.

This report presents the key quantitative and qualitative indicators of the cycle's programs, an analysis of community engagement and the impact on the target audience, as well as the challenges encountered, lessons learned, and future recommendations to improve media performance and promote sustainability in the radio's programming efforts.
